Calling it Home

By John Dickenson

WHEN I ARRIVED AT JOCELYN HOUSE HOSPICE I was greeted with smiling faces and a very happy staff. An interesting phenomenon takes place when you move into Jocelyn House; very quickly this feeling of comfort and joy wrapped around me and I felt the warmth this home exuded. They say that a happy home is a tidy home however it goes even further when everyone is joyful and pleased about their roles in life at this home. The slogan "Because People Live Here" is truly a statement that embodies the lifestyle at Jocelyn House Hospice. I too, now call it my home.

Activities

In my first days I engaged in activities that now make up daily life in my new home. They include tending to a small garden of cherry tomatoes, barbequing supper meals, baking, setting the table for supper and clearing the dishes after the meal and several other activities, all of which I traditionally performed prior to moving into Jocelyn House. Arts and crafts have become my new leisure pastime. Sketching, painting, beading and water colours under the tutelage of one of the volunteers, a Fine Arts Graduate, fill my days at home and help me learn art forms that I have never had access to previously. Although extensive walking is somewhat limited due to my health very short walks in the lovely surroundings on Egerton Road are a sweet respite under the big blue sky of Manitoba mornings.

Comfort Comes in Many Forms

Comfort comes in many forms and having the availability of 24/7 Licensed Nursing is one of the examples of comfort that Jocelyn House Hospice offers me. Just knowing that a staff member is just a "Watch Beep" (in-house call system) away gives me a comfort I know I would not have elsewhere. A nurse at Jocelyn House is just not simply a nurse as one might know them. They are "Jacks of all Trades" as every staff member here participates in all aspects of resident care from medicinal needs to laundry duty, meal preparation and general care. The homecare aides are another example of caring integration as they keep me on a regular schedule of laundry, cleaning, bed making, meal preparation, etc. which makes life at home a further comfort. Then there is the army of volunteers who give of their time for the benefit of others. Whether it be for the creation of a full course supper time meal or to just spend some time playing cards, the time they share is so valuable and appreciated. Of course it goes without saying that having a weekly visit with your doctor goes a long way to providing another totally different comfort level. The doctor is also part of the family in my home.

While my stay at Jocelyn House Hospice has thus far been a relatively short one it has been full and comfortable and I look forward to many more days of life in my new home.

JENNIFER LUKACS

STAFF PROFILE

I HAVE BEEN A NURSE AT JOCELYN HOUSE HOSPICE for two years. During that time I've had the privilege to assist residents and families at one of the most vulnerable times in their lives.

One of my favorite things about Jocelyn House is that we are able to form relationships with our residents built not only on friendship but also trust. This trust provides comfort and peace during the last days for both individuals and their families. I believe that a familiar face or loving presence in the room can be very comforting to our residents and some of the best medicine we can provide.

The residents have taught me that life is a journey. They don't focus on how they are going to die but rather how they lived and what they have learned along the way. They have come to know that the most important things in life are not material possessions but friends, family and the relationships they have developed along the way. This wisdom has inspired me to live in the moment and cherish each and every day.

In my spare time I love to travel with my husband and spend time with our kids and granddaughter.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Jackie Stephen

THE GREATEST ASSET of any organization is its people and Jocelyn House is blessed to have a team of very dedicated and hardworking employees. Their passion for the work they do is evident in the care they provide to our hospice residents.

Management, Foundation staff, Hospice Care Workers and nurses all make valuable contributions every day, to support of our terminally ill residents.

End of life care comes with challenges, but also rewards. It is often the little things that mean most to residents during their final months, weeks and days. For some it is a compassionate ear to listen or a gentle hand to hold that provides comfort. For others it is warm shower and assistance with shaving or hairstyling or perhaps just a fresh baked favourite cookie, warm from the oven. There is a joy and sense of pride that is felt by our staff when we see how the little things make big differences in the lives of those entrusted in our care. It is our mandate to not only provide excellent medical care but also to add life to final days. Providing comfort, easing pain, and alleviating fear are all important staff functions but equally important is the companionship, kindness and genuine concern they show every day.

I am grateful for and very proud of our Jocelyn House staff and the excellent work they do for our residents. Our staff is also supported by a team of committed and very capable volunteers who assist with meal preparation, companionship, maintenance and massage, pet, music and art therapies.

In May, we said goodbye to our Nurse Manager, Rose Marie Reimer, who left the hospice to pursue new adventures in her career and family life. Rose Marie was a very valued Jocelyn House employee for 6 years and we thank her and wish her all the very best.

I am very pleased to welcome and introduce our new Nurse Manager, Karen Livingston. Karen has many years' experience as a Registered Nurse in various roles and in a short time has embraced her new position and has already made a positive impact on resident care at Jocelyn House.

Welcome Karen!

DEVELOPMENT REPORT

By Jacqueline Bouvier

JOCELYN HOUSE HOSPICE IS HOME

to residents with unique and interesting backgrounds who fill this special home with life! So it should be no surprise that the financial support that we receive to ensure the delivery of quality end of life care at the hospice comes in forms as diverse as the residents and their families who benefit.

Our fundraising events, Sunday Supper, Hike for Hospice, Friends for Life Luncheon and Band Together are all opportunities for our sponsors, donors, staff, volunteers and resident families to join us to support Jocelyn House Hospice. While each event is unique the common thread is to continue our mission to carry on the dream of Jocelyn Hutton: adding life to the final days for the terminally ill, and their loved ones, by providing care and comfort in a home-like setting.

In March we introduced a new campaign, 31 Days, 31 Stories, 31 Donors to encourage individuals to become a monthly donor. We are pleased to share that 27 new monthly donors have signed up since the campaign launched. We are very grateful to Craig & Ross, Chartered Accountants for their generous matching donation of $7500! It is not too late to sign up to become a monthly donor and help us to obtain our goal of 31 new monthly donors before the end of the year. Thank you to all of our monthly donors for their ongoing support!

Thank you to Lily Schreyer and Gary Scherbain for their donations of artwork which both brighten up our walls and also support us financially as auction pieces at our fundraising events.

A huge thank to the following donors who recently donated $1000+: 2948690 Manitoba Ltd., All Charities Campaign, Asphaltc Paving Ltd., City of Winnipeg Employees Charitable Fund, Confidence Management

Ltd., Diane Dexter, Dorais Charities Inc., Barry Dyck, Mike Egan, Gardewine Group Limited Partnership, John Heimbecker, Lola Construction Management, Colin Lount, Lount Corporation, Manitoba Community Services Council Inc., Leesa Munroe, Gregory Patenaude, Qualico, Stan Reimer and Rhonda Adolphson Reimer, Hartley and Heather Richardson, Jeanne Schmidt, Debbie Smith, St. Andrew's River Heights United Church, The Pollard Family Foundation, The Winnipeg Foundation, Kathe Tydik, Verne Reimer Architecture, Robert Williams and Leigh W. Young. We truly appreciate your substantial support!

We repeatedly hear a common sentiment from our residents, "How did I get so lucky to be here?" and the answer is, because of people like you, our donors. So on behalf of our residents and their families, as well as all of us at Jocelyn House Hospice, thank you!

JULIEN FRADETTE

I BEGAN VOLUNTEERING AT JOCELYN HOUSE in the summer of 2015. The opportunity to volunteer had long been a desire of mine. I was encouraged to do so as one of the residents was of a French background and he appreciated being able to converse in French. Three years later, I still enjoy visiting with residents, volunteers and staff during my weekly visits.

For something like 50 years I have been actively involved in working, and

VOLUNTEER PROFILE

‘doing’. Now that I am fully retired I look forward to just ‘being’ – being with whomever comes into my life day to day. I spend time in prayer and reflection and I’m beginning to explore new things, such as whether or not I have an artistic bent in my being by taking a class in “Starting a Sketchbook Journal.” All in all, it is to take one day at a time, being conscious of each present moment.

I have a profound sense that everyone, when they come to final days, should have the opportunity to be accompanied on that journey, to their last breath. It is a privilege for us when we are allowed to be a part of those final days. They can be times of healing, of revelation and of transformation. And above all it is a time to listen attentively to that life that is ebbing away. What greater privilege is there?

It is not every resident that wants to visit or have a conversation with volunteers. Thoughts of two residents who did enjoy a visit I value a great deal. I sat beside ‘D’ on the sofa the day after she arrived at JH. We struck up a conversation about her new home, how she got here. Over the next 30 minutes she shared much of her life story – the joys, as well as the many pains and sorrows she suffered and was still suffering. She died two days later. Such a short time at JH but lived to the full.

‘T,’ on the other hand, was at JH for a longer time and he welcomed my visit each week. It was a privilege to listen to his story every week, and in the telling, reassure him that he was indeed loved and was of value to us all, which he doubted much of his life.

It’s the stories, as simple or as complex as they may be, that are of utmost importance.

What a privilege it was to be a very small part of those final days. And, if we can be an instrument, a listening and loving ear, in their telling, then our time with the residents is as precious as diamonds. We are the richer for the privilege of being present.

At Jocelyn House Hospice, we have a very clear idea of the role we play in our residents’ lives and a vibrant vision for what our future holds...

Our Mission

To carry on the dream of Jocelyn Hutton: adding life to final days for the terminally ill, and their loved ones, by providing care and comfort in a home-like setting.

Our Vision for the Future

To enhance and expand Jocelyn House Hospice to meet the increasing needs for end-of-life care, while ensuring the mission and values on which our organization is founded are never compromised.
